

To the father of the bride;

"Let us toast to my father in law for raising and giving me this beautiful woman. For being a wonderful father to her, although I'm taking over. For accepting me as a son..... "

To the best man;

"To my right-hand man for being there all the way. For taking time off work to make all things ready for my big day. For all the sacrifices you made from way back until now. For being my best friend in the real sense and too many more years as friends.....a toast to my best man (insert name)"

To the guests;

"A toast to you wonderful people. You are all amazing. Thanks for being here today and sharing in our joy. To many more years of celebration and happiness..... "

To the bride;

"Whoever thought this angelic beauty seated here will be mine? Let's all make a toast to my heartthrob, whose smile lightens my world. A toast to you baby, for all you are, for all you'll be. To us, to life, to our love, to your happiness, too many blissful years with me, to our future, to forever..... "
