The Anniversary Wishes Workbook

A simple, printable guide to writing a message that sounds like you.

01 · WHO ARE YOU WRITING TO?

Start with the person or people you're celebrating. Check one recipient, then note what you want your message to communicate.

■ Husband	■ Wife
■ Partner	■ Parents
■ Friends	■ A Couple

What do you want them to feel when they read your message?

One thing I appreciate about them:

A memory, tradition, or little detail I could mention:

02 · BUILD YOUR MESSAGE

Draft one small piece at a time. You don’t need to use every prompt—choose the details that feel genuine.

1. Opening

Try: “Happy anniversary…” or “Today, I’m especially grateful for…”

My notes

2. Memory

Think of a trip, a tradition, a difficult moment you got through, or an ordinary day you still remember.

My notes

3. What I appreciate

Name a quality or action: kindness, humor, patience, loyalty, or the way they show up for others.

My notes

4. Future wish

Try: “I hope the year ahead brings us…” or “Wishing you both…”

My notes

5. Closing

Finish in your natural voice: “With all my love,” “Cheers to many more,” or “Always in your corner.”

My notes

Quick formula: Opening + memory + appreciation + future wish + closing.

03 · TONE PROMPTS

Pick a tone that fits your relationship. Fill in the blanks, then edit the wording so it sounds like you.

ROMANTIC	Happy anniversary, my love. My favorite memory of us is ___, and I love the way you ___.
FUNNY	After ___ years, we still can't agree on ___, but I wouldn't trade our life together for anything.
SHORT & SIMPLE	Happy anniversary! I'm grateful for ___ and excited for ___.
HEARTFELT	One thing you may not hear enough is ___; it means so much to me when you ___.
RELIGIOUS	Happy anniversary. I'm thankful for the blessing of ___ and pray the year ahead brings ___.
FORMAL	Warmest anniversary wishes. May the years ahead bring you ___ and continued happiness.

My favorite finished sentence:

04 · YOUR PRINTABLE ANNIVERSARY MESSAGE

Write your final message below. Add a name, date, small drawing, or a personal detail before giving or mailing your note.

Made with love · WeddingForward.com